Gov. S, and myself are charged with conspiring to do "a crying injustice to an individual" hardly known, to me at least, and to give it to Mr. Goodrich, or to Mr. Parmalee, a young man of undoubted merit, but who could hardly be known to Gov. Sinde at all, and who did not for six months, of which the time of preparing the sales and the six months, of which the time of preparing that after a column and not so is a month of the sales and the sales are an experimental to the sales and the sales are an experimental to the sales are an experimental to the sales are a sales and the sales are a sales are a sales and the sales are a sales are a sales and the sales are a sales are a sales and the sales are a sales are a sales and the sales are a sales his index was a part, exchange with me on an average a word a week. How far this preposterous his word. Permit me to "suggest" to your corresgust, and until then open to all. In this contract which he permits himself to write, there was no provision made for the publication of an "index"—none such being contomplated by the P. S. Since writing the above, I have learned en "index"—none such being contemplated by the law—none such being anticipated by me, and entirely unheard of by me, until the resolution providing for its jublication came into my office after its passage. The Governor appointed Mr. Sampson, upon satisfactory reasons I have no doubt, to make the index. Mr. Goodrich under his contract was to have 21 days, from the completion of his copy to finish the acts, and to furnish him with this copy at the earliest moment, I took the acts and resolutions with me to Burlington. On the 18th Nov.

I received a letter from Mr. Sampson, requesting me to turnish him copies of the "proof sheets," that with the latter he "could have the whole (of his index) done in two or three days," than those published in the new gapers or the "proof sheets," that with the latter he "could have the whole (of his index) done in two or three days," As it would take me something like a week with my then leisure to give the copies desired, and this too, as a mere courtesy, I sent Mr. Sampson according to my recollection, the proof-sheets. It is charged that this communication (whatever its form may have been) was "delayed for a long time" by me and then misdirected, and an inference is endeavored to be raised that this was by intention.

Mr. Sampson informs me the letter from me was directed to C. Sampson, Esq. it should have been to G. C. Sampson, Esq. it should have been to G. C. Sampson, indemned the misdirection. This, however, could have occasioned the misdirection. This, however, could have occasioned to me of want of time, the "long delay" never occurred, and the imputations of intentional misdirection are entirely untrue.

Absulted in the new gapers of the "Monator Law of Mr. S. to me is a continue of the new process of the meeting — when on motion of Hon. A. Young, Hon. Joseph Waterman was unanimously appointed President, and H. M. Vilus duly chosen Secretary. C. Lynde Esq. proposed that the sense of the meeting be taken to see whether we now proceed to nominate a candidate for senator, when after remarks being severally made by Messrs. Lynde, young, and others, the convention decided the next business to be the election of a candidate by ballot.

The votes being taken sorted and counted, it appeared that Cornelius Lynde Esq. of Johnson, was mearly unanimously observed a candidate, and after the convention was called to order by Hon. J. Waterman, who stated briefly the object of the meeting—when on motion of Hon. A. Young, Hon. Joseph Waterman was unanimously appointed President, and H. M. Vilus duly chosen Secretary. C. I suppose that this refusal on my part to take any responsibility in the premises, is what your correspondent means by "unwarranted inter-ference and singular effrontery." The reasons why I was obliged to take this course were, Mr. G's wrote Gov. S. on Nov. 19, informing him of Mr. cure his election.

On the 27th the Goy, wrote Mr. G. saying that he had written to Mr. Sampson a week before, requesting Mr. S. to send his index to him (the Goy.) and that if it was a good one it must be the one for publication, and in relation to Mr. G's index of which he had sent (of his own unaided motive) a proofsheet, the Gov. says "Your index may be a good one, but I can of course have nothing to do with it, provided Sampson furnishes as good and in season." On the same day (the 27th) Gov. S. advised me again of having written Mr. Sampson, directing the index to be sent to him and of his commuing the index to be sent to him and of his commu-nighte index to be sent to that and of his communication to Mr. Goodrich.

I received the index of Mr. S. on the morning of the 28th, accompanied by a letter from Mr. Sampson, in which he endeavored to reason me into the conviction that upon me was the responsibility of publishing, alluding to the misdirection, but saying publishing, alluding to the misdirection, but saying Although the Editor of the Woodstock Age pro-"it was of no importance" as there was plenty of time to print. This index of Mr. Sampson's was sent by me to the Governor by the next stage. I looked it through from curiosity. Mr. Goodrich saw it for about ten minutes; there was no use made of it by any body, nor was it open more than an hour in the whole time while in my office, but I-y scaled up ready to be forwarded. The allegation that it "was wanted doubtless to assist in ma-Mr. G. and myself are said to be engaged," is entirely untree. The letter of Gov. S. to Mr. Goodrich from which your article quotes, gives the reasons at length for the rejection of the Sampson index, (one sufficient one was that "it was very feetive,") and goes at length into the grounds of his (the Governor's) reluctance to give up the Sampson index, speaks of an "examination of the proof" which Mr. Goodrich had colunteered to send him, and puts the acceptance of Goodrich's index upon the ground of its being "the only alternative" by which ground of its being "the only alternative" by which he can secure the object contemplated by the Log-ble sentiment" from the same "noble man;" we islature.
